MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY:

The undersigned has the honour to lay before Your Excellency the accompanying report of the Civil Service Commission of Canada for the year ending December 31, 1923.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. COPP,

Secretary of State.

OTTAWA, April 2, 1924.

April 2, 1924.

The Honourable Arthur B. Copp,
Secretary of State of Canada.

Sir,—In conformity with the provisions of Section 36 of the Civil Service Act, 1918 (as amended by Chapter 10 of the Statutes of 1919, Second Session), I have the honour to submit herewith a report of the proceedings of the Civil Service Commission of Canada for the year ending December 31, 1923.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

WILLIAM FORAN,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS

In compliance with the requirements of section 36 of the Civil Service Act, the Civil Service Commissioners beg to submit their report for the calendar year 1923.

During the year the Commission has conducted 1,513 civil service examinations—an increase of 143 over 1922—at which some 16,000 persons competed. As in previous years, the assistance given the Commission by officers of the various departments, in preparing and rating examination papers, as well as by scientific and professional men in the business world, has kept the cost of holding these examinations at a remarkably low figure, the entire expenses for the year for outside examiners being less than $600. The acknowledgments of the Commission are particularly due to those whose names are given on pages VII and VIII, the majority of whom served as members of Advisory Examining Boards without remuneration of any kind, and through whose active interest and unselfish work the merit system has been greatly assisted.

From the tables published in the appendix it will be noted that during the year, 1,579 appointments have been made in the various departments of the public service to positions of a continuous or permanent character (exclusive of rural postmasters and seasonal employees); the number of appointments during the previous twelve months was 1,621. Table I, which deals with this feature of the Commission's work, indicates the department to which the appointment was made, the class of position and salary, whether the appointee was an ex-service man, a disability preference, or a widow entitled to the Overseas Military Service preference under section 39 (3) of the Act as amended in 1921. Other tables give particulars of the promotions and transfers effected within the same period.

During the year, 1,048 separations from the Service were reported to the Commission, so that 531 additions were seemingly made to the establishments of the various departments. These, it may be presumed, were consequent upon increased departmental activities. As the Department however are not required by the Act to report retirements to the Commission, no definite statement as to the actual addition or otherwise to the personnel of the Service can be here made. In this connection it may be pointed out that no appointment is made by the Commission except upon the requisition of a department, signed by the deputy minister thereof or his duly appointed representative, nor is any employee sent to a department except upon such authority. A department also has the right to reject an employee in case his services prove unsatisfactory.

In conjunction with departmental officers, the Commission during 1923 made substantial progress in organization work in the following departments: Customs and Excise, Interior, Marine and Fisheries, National Defence and Post Office. Seven separate branches of the Post Office Department, namely, Expenditure, Money Order, Postage Stamp, Postal Note, Revenue, Salary Warrant, and Savings Bank, were consolidated into a major Financial Branch, and a Hollerith accounting system installed for the audit of money orders. Establishments were also drawn up for the Secretary's Branch and the Postal Service Branch of the department, and the reorganization of the District Superintendents' offices was completed, the net saving in staff expenditure being approximately $250,000. In the Department of Customs and Excise, staff establishments have been fixed for that portion of the department outside of Ottawa. In the Department of Marine and Fisheries, a partial reorganization of the Chief Engineer's Branch was undertaken. In the Department of National Defence, establishments were prepared for various branches, resulting in a saving of some 130 positions, and approximately $150,000, while minor adjustments were made in other establishments already approved. In the Department of the Interior an establishment was drawn up for the Secretary's Branch and a staff saving of $45,000 made, while work is now proceeding in connection with the survey branches, the Accounts Branch, various land branches, and the amalgamation of the Water Power and Reclamation Services.

The Commission now has a number of experienced officers who are well qualified to undertake in conjunction with departmental officers the reorganization of any branch or division of the Public Service. It is the opinion of the Commissioners that with the co-operation of departmental officers improvements and reductions in the establishments of some of the departments can be made and a substantial saving of public money thereby effected.

During the last session of Parliament, a special select committee was appointed to investigate the operation of the Civil Service Act (Chapter 12, 1918). A voluminous report of the evidence taken and the findings of that committee was tabled in the House of Commons towards the close of the session and at the request of the Government, action thereon was deferred until the ensuing session. It may be observed, however, that from the Commission's standpoint the conclusions reached by the committee were for the most part satisfactory, confirming as they did the value of the merit system, making certain recommendations for the better administration of the law, and approving some suggestions of the Commission for amendments to the Act regarded as likely to render more simple the administration thereof. As this report is still awaiting the action of Parliament, further comment thereon would be out of place at the present time.

Six years' experience on the part of the Commissioners in administering the present Act has developed even increasing evidence of public approval and support. Its application to a Service built up as was that of the Dominion, involved a vast amount of routine detail but now that this has been disposed of it has been found possible to materially reduce the Commission's staff. At its peak some two hundred and eighty employees, permanent and temporary, were on the Commission's payroll, but the number of permanent employees has been reduced to one hundred and twenty-seven, and the small staff of temporary clerks will be dispensed with in the near future.

During 1923 the Regulations of the Commission formulated under the authority of section 4, subsection 2, and section 37 of the Civil Service Act, were revised and received the approval of His Excellency the Governor General in Council on the 10th December. The revision was based upon the experience gained during five years' administration of the present Act and the changes made will it is believed materially increase the efficient and smooth operating of the law.

Both the country and the personnel of the service heard with satisfaction the announcement of the Right Honourable the Prime Minister at the close of the session in 1923, that it was the intention of the Government to introduce a permanent superannuation measure during the ensuing session. This policy has been strongly advocated by the Commission in its annual reports for a number of years past. There can be no doubt that an adequate measure of superannuation will very materially assist in the work of reorganization by providing an adequate means for the retirement of many faithful servants without undue hardship.

The application of the Public Service Retirement Act of 1920 has resulted in the retirement of 1,289 officers. As 510 of the vacancies so created did not require to be filled, while many of the remainder were taken over by officers drawing a lower salary rate, the net saving through the operation of the Act is estimated to have been well over $640,000. It is reasonable to anticipate that a permanent superannuation measure will operate along the same lines, but with even greater advantage to the cause of efficiency and economy.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. J. ROCHE, Chairman.
M. G. LAROCHELLE,
CLARENCE JAMESON,
Commissioners.

OTTAWA, March 31, 1924.
